ARCHER DRILLING, LLC, a Wyoming limited liability company; BUSINESS FUNDING SOLUTIONS, LLC, a Utah limited liability company; BLOX LENDING, LLC, a Utah limited liability company; CALMFRTZ HOLDINGS, LLC, a Utah limited liability company; CALMES & CO, INC., a Utah corporation; FLAHERTY ENTERPRISES, LLC, an Arizona limited liability company; IX VENTURES FZCO, a United Arab Emirates company; PURDY OIL, LLC, a Nebraska limited liability company; THE GOLD COLLECTIVE LLC, a Utah limited liability company; and UIU HOLDINGS, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, Relief Defendants.

I, Casey R. Fronk, make the following declaration, in accordance with the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1746:

1. I am currently employed as a Trial Counsel in the Salt Lake Regional Office (“SLRO”) of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). I began working for the SEC in September 2020 in the position I currently hold. As Trial Counsel, I am responsible for filing and litigating securities actions on behalf of the SEC in federal court.

2. SLRO typically assigns two trial attorneys to each case. My colleague Michael Welsh served as lead Trial Counsel in this matter, and I was assigned as the second trial attorney. My role was to assist Mr. Welsh with filing and litigating the above-captioned matter.

3. I attended the July 28, 2023 hearing on the SEC’s Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order (“TRO Hearing”). During the TRO Hearing, when Mr. Welsh made the statement that “even in the last 48 hours Defendants have closed additional bank accounts, and I believe the number, I don’t have it in front of me, was around 33 bank accounts have been closed,” I did not know that this statement was inaccurate. I recall investigative counsel, either Ms. Laurie Abbott or Mr. Joseph Watkins, saying something during the break to the effect that there was evidence of bank account closures in the last couple of days, but I was not aware of the information investigative counsel obtained regarding bank account closures in the two days leading up to the hearing. I had no reason to believe that Mr. Welsh may have misinterpreted the information provided to him.

4. I first became aware that Mr. Welsh’s statement may have been inaccurate when certain Defendants raised the issue in their motions to dissolve the TRO on or about September 12, 2023. Thereafter, I discussed the issue with Mr. Welsh, who appeared surprised to learn his statement may have been inaccurate. Mr. Welsh and I agreed that he would work with the SEC’s investigative staff to confirm whether the bank records regarding the relevant transactions in Defendants’ bank accounts supported the information Mr. Welsh provided at the TRO Hearing.

5. Before the SEC filed its September 27, 2023 Opposition to the DLI Defendants’ Motion to Dissolve (“Opposition”), I learned from Mr. Welsh that the investigative staff told him that no Defendants’ accounts had been closed in the two days before the TRO Hearing, but rather that certain Defendants’ accounts had been substantially drained of assets. Mr. Welsh and I agreed to submit the updated account transaction information to the Court through a supplemental declaration from the SEC’s accountant, Ms. Zaki. Mr. Welsh and I further discussed how, in his view, evidence that accounts were “substantially drained” in the 48 hours before the hearing supported the same inference as evidence that accounts were “closed” in the last 48 hours, namely that Defendants were moving investor funds out of known accounts. I

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on this 21st day of December 2023 in San Jose, CA, USA.
